Plant a seed, watch it grow with the help of the Seed Library

We are thrilled to announce the opening of our Seed Library this April! Simply come to the Library to browse the selection of over forty different seeds available. Patrons can then choose up to five seed packets to try, take them home and plant them! No library card is required, it's just that easy. In addition, directly to the left of the Seed Library is our gardening books collection. Patrons are also encouraged to donate seeds of the same type back to the Library in the return packets provided. Care instructions and information for all available seeds can be found on our website at allenparklibrary.org. There are no residency requirements to participate in or utilize the Seed Library.
