Give your child the joy of planting and watching trees grow!

The Library has partnered with Neighborhood Forest, a nonprofit working to give free trees to children all over the country. Now through March 15, parents can register their children to receive a free tree to plant at home by scanning the QR code to the right! Trees will arrive the week of Earth Day and the Library will contact those signed up regarding pick up details. Species information and planting instructions will be emailed out, and can be found at neighborhoodforest.org/info. Those without children participating can purchase a tree or give a donation using the QR code and selecting one of the other options. Spring will be here in no time at all, so plant a beautiful tree at home and enjoy watching it grow!
